

GOOG, PYPL, AMD, FB, SPOT, AMZN

Alphabet (GOOG) will report results 2/1 after the close with the Street looking for $27.32 EPS and $72.13B in Revenues (+26.8%) and Q1/FY22 seen at $24.90/$66.06B and $112.07/$297.16B. GOOG shares have closed higher four of its last five reports and has a six quarter average max move of 6.27%. The $1.83 trillion Tech giant trades 23.75X Earnings, 26X FCF and 2.6X EV/Sales with revenues seen rising 17% in 2022 and 2023 along with 22.7% and 50% EPS growth. GOOGL has become a major ecommerce play with its Google Shopping innovations continuing to drive growth. GOOGL is also positioned to benefit from the auto and travel recoveries. This quarter Search is seen growing 28% Y/Y and YouTube at 30% Y/Y as deceleration sets in. GOOGL faces a tough 1H set-up with comps and likely will continue to invest heavily in Cloud, Waymo and AR/VR. Four key drivers for Google on earnings calls are: 1) Y/Y revenue trajectory, 2) Y/Y margin trajectory, 3) capital allocation, and 4) disclosures/outlook. Analysts have an average target of $4000 and short interest is low at 0.8% of the float. BAML raised its target to $3470 on 1/19 seeing both tech investments driving better search results and YouTube monetization in the early innings. Cowen raised its target to $3500 on 1/13 as checks show it remaining the firm worldwide leader in the digital ad market. On the chart GOOG reversed last week after filling a large volume pocket retesting a key breakout from 2021 with the $2500 level major support, a move below leaves a pocket back to $2400. Shares are below a rising 200-day moving average but closed Friday above the 8-day moving average which has curled upwards. The low recently also came right at VWAP off the mid-January 2021 breakout. GOOG options are pricing in a 3.6% earnings move with 30-day IV Skew at +7.7 comparing to the +2.9 52-week average. GOOG's put/call open interest ratio is at the 97th percentile and average IV30 crush is -16.6%. GOOG sees plenty of large trades but mostly been concentrated in these revers diagonal put spreads and has plenty of short put open interest exposure.

Trade to Consider: Sell the GOOG February $2600/$2580 Put Spreads for $6.50 Credit (Bull Put Spread)

PayPal (PYPL) will release earnings 2/1 after the close with the Street view at $1.12 EPS and $6.86B in Revenues (+12.2%) and Q1/FY22 seen at $1.16/$6.74B and $5.25/$29.88B. It will likely take several quarters for investors to gain confidence in normalized eCommerce growth rates and PYPL's ability to sustain its growth algorithm. Buy Now Pay Later, Honey, and Amazon's Venmo partnership are newer initiatives as upside drivers. Analysts have an average target of $250 with short interest low at 1.5% of the float. Mizuho lowered its target to $225 and noted 2H22 should be stronger as performance of payment stocks tracks two-year sales growth stack which should inflect positively. Jefferies cut shares to Hold on 1/12 seeing a muted growth outlook and no room for multiple expansion. PYPL shares have been crushed with weekly RSI at 24 though weekly MACD has been pushing higher on the histogram. PYPL is already below VWAP off the March 2020 lows and no notable support levels nearby, and VWAP from its IPO lines up with the next major level for shares back at $115 as a retest of a major range breakout in 2020. PYPL options are pricing in a 6% earnings move with 30-day IV Skew at +9.9 comparing to the +2 52-week average. PYPL's put/call open interest ratio is only at the 26th percentile and average IV30 crush is -13.7%. PYPL has seen mixed flows with buyers in June $130, March $140, June $155 and April $150 puts of notable size while also seeing some bullish put sales like 2000 September $150 and 1600 July $140.

The $820B advertising leader trades 21.1X Earnings, 7.3X Sales and 22.9X FCF with revenues seen rising 19% in 2022 along with just 2.3% EPS growth due to rising expenses. IDFA headwinds remain a factor and FB faces tough comps through 1H22. SensorTower data suggests some pressure on FB users, a 4Q risk, but strong growth for Instagram. FB Reality Labs disclosures will be in focus. Investors expect comments on promotion of Reels in FB Newsfeed, with ad impression growth in focus as Reels may have lower monetization. Other focal points include traction of on-platform shopping features, plans for Messenger & WhatsApp monetization and, of course, hardware and software traction around the Metaverse vision. Analysts have an average target of $400 with short interest low at 1.2% of the float. RBC lowered its target to $400 citing mixed spending trends and some outsized Tiktok exposure. OTR Global upgraded shares to Positive on 1/19 on solid advertisement spend growth in Q4. On the chart FB basing last week and remains below all key moving averages though the low came right at the 38.2% Fibonacci off March 2020 lows and its rising 83-week EMA. FB's VWAP off the March 2020 low aligns nicely with the major volume node of support as a retest of its 2021 flag breakout near $282 and even stronger support at $270. FB options are pricing in a 4.6% earnings move and 30-day IV Skew at +9% compares to the +2.8% 52-week average. FB's put/call open interest ratio is at the 23rd percentile and average IV30 crush is -16.9%. FB had a buyer of 5000 January 2024 deep ITM $200 calls on 1/24 but has also seen buyers in May $270, $260 and $250 puts.
