MARKET OUTLOOK

Futures are indicating a modestly lower open for the morning ahead of the US jobs number. Arguably some profit-taking after a strong week and little new macro news overnight except for some weak economic data (below). The jobs data today expected to remain strong with unemployment holding at 3.5%. Fears over the coronavirus continue to abate a bit while the economic impact continues to be debated. Some estimates are now modeling China GDP in Q1 to be as low as 1% vs 6% prior. Earnings season is starting to slow down considerably after some big reports last night (positive FTNT, NLOK, PINS, SKX, SYNA, TMUS).

Asian markets were mixed into the weekend with the Nikkei down marginally. Concerns around the coronavirus continue while Beijing continues to reassure markets that they'll do whatever is necessary to stop the economic slide. Softbank jumping 7% on the report that Elliott has build a stake. Kathmandu higher by 12.8% after the outdoor retailer raised guidance sharply.

European markets are down about 60 bps across the board ahead of the US payrolls data. The majority of markets are still up strong for the week. Credit Suisse down 3.5% after its CEO stepped down following a spying scandal. Norsk Hydro down 11% after the aluminum producer missed estimates. Burberry down 2% after warning on the impact of the coronavirus. Financial services company Hargreaves down 4% after a share sale by its founder. Car insurance company Admiral Group down 1% despite a strong report and guidance. Consumer electronics retailer Ceconomy up 8% after affirming their outlook. Cosmetics company L'Oreal up 6.5% after a strong report. Fertilizer maker Yara Int'l up 5% after beating estimates and raising guidance. Ericsson up 4.25% after reports the US may buy a stake to combat Huawei dominance.

It was a quiet night for economic data. German exports were light at 0.1% vs 0.5%. Industrial production fell 3.5% vs the Street at a 0.2% drop. French industrial production was also weak. Taiwan exports fell 7.6% in January vs 1% growth expected. China exports rose 9.1%, much better than the 4.8% drop forecast. Japanese household spending dipped in December.

OPTION HIGHLIGHTS (Prior Day)

Archer Daniels Midland (ADM) with buyers of 1,500 June $46 calls up to $2.07 to open and follows recent buyers in the February $44 calls, January 2022 $42 and $45 calls, and June $44 calls. The February $47 calls bought over 8,000X on 1-3 remain in OI as well. Shares are flagging under the December highs after a strong run from the August lows and a move higher targets $51 and the July 2018 peak. Shares are moving back above January value this week and potential early trend shift. The $26.24B company trades 12.5X earnings and 0.41X sales with a 3.2% yield. ADM is forecasting high-single digit EPS growth and revenues up 1.5% to 2% the next two years with margin improvement as they execute on a major efficiency plan within their logistics and transportation business. ADM has been undergoing a big investment cycle and portfolio shift since 2014 across origination, processing, and specialty nutrition and now positioned with a more profitable and balanced revenue mix. They see major investments in tech like AI and machine learning giving them an edge in processing with higher production and lower costs that will help them withstand a weaker pricing market in the future. And they are positioned for some major thematic trends within food over the next 5-10 years like alternative proteins, health and wellness, and growth in premium pet food. Analysts have an average target for shares of $47 with 5 buy ratings, 1 hold, and 1 sell. Monness Crespi downgrading to Sell on 1-9 with a $38 PT. The firm thinks the optimism around Phase One is overdone and Ethanol margins have worsened. Stephens with a $50 PT and Buy rating. They think shares have been under pressure due to investments in future growth but giving a solid entry as those businesses mature over the next 2-3 years and earnings power returns. Short interest is 1.9%. Hedge fund ownership fell 22.5% in Q3 but Diamond Hill Capital and Levin Capital two notable buyers. ADM saw a lot of insider buying in early 2019 including a $2.5M buy from a director at $41.85 and a $1M buy from the CEO at $42.

FUNDAMENTAL TRADE OF THE WEEK

Stock: Albemarle (ALB)

Price: $80.25

Valuation: Undervalued

Key Ratios:

	Fwd. PE	P/S	P/B	EV / EBITDA	P/FCF
Stock	14.9X	2.4X	2.2X	11.7X	20X
Industry Avg.	23X	1.6X	2.8X	12.3X	32.3X

Analysis: ALB is a $8.58B provider of lithium compounds and lithium specialties used in the production of batteries and high-performance electronics. The company has major tailwinds from EV production and 2020 a major year for new rollouts with Porsche, Ford, Audi, and many others debuting models. ALB has struggled the last two years but 2020 sets up well for a turnaround.

Maximus (MMS) shares are breaking down out of a multiweek range and losing a weekly trend that stretches back to December 2018. Shares have been forming a series of lower highs for weeks and downside has room to $64.

PAIR TRADE OF THE WEEK

Industry: Dental

Long/Short: Long Dentsply (XRAY); Short Henry Schein (HSIC)

Analysis: XRAY is a $13B company that is undergoing a restructuring and targeting significant margin expansion, new products, and Int'l expansion over the next 2-3 years. HSIC is facing margin pressure as pricing comes down and competitive pressure from peers ramps. HSIC is seeing some share gain losses as well so even in a tough environment, XRAY and others likely better plays.

SMALL CAP TRADE OF THE WEEK

ACM Research (ACMR) is a $655M provider of singlewafer cleaning equipment for improving manufacturing vields of semiconductor chips. ACMR is benefitting from a potential recovery in DRAM capex while closely tied to the Chinese semiconductor space which has seen sentiment shift with the trade deal.

Extras

Aecom (ACM) with buyers of 2,000 March $50 calls yesterday and later 10,000 March $50/$55 call spreads opening around $1, sizable trade in the name. ACM also had 500 March $47.50 calls bought while the March $45 calls remain in OI from buyers on 1-15, over 1200X. ACM has seen put buying in the February $47.50 and June $45 strikes, but likely hedging with the recently rally. Shares have pulled back to the low-end of January value around $46 and the 38.2% Fibonacci of the rally since early January. A move above the 20-day MA at $48.50 has room up to recent highs around $50 and then a measured move to $56. The $7.71B company trades 12.89X earnings, 0.38X sales, and 11.4X FCF with low-double digit growth. ACM is guiding to low-single digit revenue growth. ACM is an activist situation with Starboard reaching a deal with the company on 11/22 and subsequently leading to the departure of their CEO. ACM announced the sales of their Management Services business for $2.4B in October in a bid to unlock value, drive margin expansion and reduce its debt. ACM is now a pure-play professional services firm with a focus on design, planning, architecture, engineering, and construction management. The slimmed down company is also more attractive as a deal target. On 1-13, Bloomberg reported that WSP had approached Aecom about a potential deal. Analysts have an average target for shares of $49.50. Deutsche Bank raising their PT to $56 while Citi moving to 'Positive Catalyst Watch' on 1-28 given the potential acquisition-related benefits. They see continued margin expansion, growth visibility, and cash "optionality," which should continue to drive shareholder value. Baird believes the ongoing deal talk is credible as the cost synergy potential could be significant, and the recent share price move higher has been inexplicable on a fundamental basis. They see a deal in the high $50s. Short interest is 4% and up slightly from 2.8% in November. Hedge fund ownership rose 29.85% in Q3, Starboard Value with a 5.47M share position while Lyrical Asset Management, Engine Capital, and Interval Partners notable. On 11-26, a director bought $8.5M shares on the open market at $42.56 on behalf of Starboard.

WYNN – Missed on EPS and Revs - "We delivered solid financial results in the fourth quarter of 2019, growing Adjusted Property EBITDA nearly 12% sequentially compared to the third quarter," said Matt Maddox, CEO of Wynn Resorts, Limited. "In Macau, the investments we have made position us well to compete in any market environment, supported by another quarter of record mass table win. Our strategy at Wynn Las Vegas is producing results, driving year-over-year volume growth in our domestic gaming business, along with 3% growth in RevPAR. Encore Boston Harbor continues to ramp nearly doubling its Adjusted Property EBITDA sequentially and we remain excited by the opportunity to drive growth at the property over the next several years. It was also a successful quarter on the development front as we made significant progress rolling out the industry's leading global growth pipeline. In November, we launched key portions of the new Lakeside Casino at Wynn Macau, further solidifying the property as the peninsula's marquee integrated resort. In Las Vegas, construction on our 430,000 square foot meeting and convention expansion is complete and we are gearing up to welcome our first groups to the new space. We are excited about the outlook for the Company and we will continue to focus on leveraging our premium-focused business model to drive long-term returns for shareholders."

PINS – Beat on EPS and Revs - Global Monthly Active Users grew 26% year over year to 335M. The company said, "A strong Q4 marked the end of a year where we improved the foundation of the Pinterest app with more inspiring recommendations, faster performance and improved shopping experiences. In 2020, we continue to pursue our goal of making Pinterest the Internet's home for inspiration by focusing on delivering relevant content, ads and shopping experiences so Pinners can easily go from inspiration to action. We are pleased with the performance of our business in Q4 and the many milestones we achieved in 2019. "We scaled the business to over $1 billion in annual revenue, grew to over 300M monthly active users and opened 21 new international advertising markets. We look forward to the opportunities ahead of us as we continue to invest in the Pinner and advertiser experience."

FTNT – Beat on EPS and Revs - "Our advanced architecture with proprietary SPU technology gives us a significant capacity advantage over our competition as indicated by our security compute ratings and enables us to add additional functionality into our products. Our strong fourth quarter product revenue growth was driven by our ability to include cutting-edge security and networking functionality, including SD-WAN, in our products," said Ken Xie, Founder, chairman, and CEO. "We are focused on continuing to gain market share by investing in network security, the build out of our Security Fabric platform, and innovations in the areas of 5G, IoT, edge and cloud security."

TDC – Beat on EPS and Revs - "Subscription-based transactions comprised 89% of the company's bookings mix in the quarter. Recurring revenue increased 7%, both reported and in constant currency, from the fourth quarter of 2018. ARR increased 9%, both reported and in constant currency, from the prior-year period. As the company shifts to a recurring revenue model and focuses its consulting resources on strategic engagements that drive increased software consumption within its targeted customer base, perpetual revenue and consulting revenue declined versus the prior-year period, as expected."

COLM – Beat on EPS and Revs - "In the fourth quarter, a challenging retail environment, particularly in outerwear, impacted sell-through performance and led to higher levels of promotional activity. In this environment, we delivered results generally in-line with our guidance, including continued exceptional growth for the SOREL brand. As we begin 2020, our unique brand portfolio, diversified business model and fortress balance sheet provide a foundation of strength and confidence from which we will continue investing in our strategic priorities to: drive brand awareness and sales growth through increased, focused demand creation investments; enhance consumer experience and digital capabilities in all our channels and geographies; expand and improve global direct-to-consumer operations with supporting processes and systems; and invest in our people and optimize our organization across our portfolio of brands." "We are making these investments to build on our strengths as a brand-led, consumer-focused organization and to enable sustainable long-term profitable growth."
